IDC + IE

Instructor Training?

What is that at all ?

PADI instructor training is a standardized program by PADI. Of course you will listen to some lectures. You will understand how to use the learning system in theory and practical. But you do not learn how to dive during this program. You learned that already before. Most of the time during the instructor training you will not be in the water. You will also not learn dive theory, like physics, physiology etc. you have to know before you come.

The difference is in HOW the IDC will be presented and which helpful options you can book with it. This is a decision taken by the dive center doing the IDC. and there are many gaps ! A lot of dive centers, the same than the IDC College Costa del Sol are advertising with stress free training conditions Why ?

If you ask an instructor you know about of how his training used to be. Then he probably will tell you that it has been partly quite stressful. And you can believe that. In most cases this is true.

At the IDC College Costa del Sol we attach great importance to stress free training and also to having fun doing it. For sure during your former training you had loads of fun. We do not understand and agree why this should not be when you take the important step to become a PADI PRO.

All our IDC candidates will confirm this, along with our 100 % success rate:

“It is a better way to have loads of fun and no stress!”

Of course we are proud of this. Our tailored training options together with the individual care by our Course Directors and their highly qualified staff during “Your” IDC guarantee these results.

Instructor Examination (IE) ?

How does that work ?

Well prepared after passing the IDC you can now take the Instructor Examination (IE), which will be held in our facilities, directly following the IDC. The big advantage is that you will do your IE in an already known environment.

The PADI IE is held over two days at IDC College Costa del Sol’s facilities, directly following the IDC. The IE is conducted by PADI Headquarters Examiners - which is not run by, and has no affiliation, with IDC College. Also the payment of the IE fee has to be made directly to PADI Europe. On successful completion of the IE, candidates receive the PADI Open Water Scuba Instructor rating directly from PADI Europe.

IDC_{prep} + IDC_{plus}

Tailored Instructor Training?

What is it?

Choosing the tailored course option we will evaluate your personal prerequisites during a consultation beforehand. Afterward we will tailor “Your” course together.

This procedure will give you 4 big advantages:

1. You only book and pay the parts of the course you really need.
2. You don't waste time during the course for skills and knowledge you already have.
3. Small groups guarantee an individual care of during the course.
4. You present yourself to the Instructor examination well prepared and can be almost sure about your success.

How you can see, we are doing things on purpose and not by accident. You are also experiencing that your Instructor Course is something special compared to the other courses you have done.

The most important thing you will have to do now ? You will only have to choose the right facility to do your Instructor Development Course with.

IDC Prep Course

IDC College/ Pro Dive Academy offer a preparatory course for IDC candidates. During the 2 day course you will review in depth the theory subjects of the Divemaster course - the PADI exams: Physics, Physiology, Equipment, Skills and Environment, RDP Table and E-RDP_{ML}. You will also review the 20 skills of the Divemaster course by completing a skill circuit in confined water and receive advice on which skills you need improvement during the IDC.

IDC Plus

After completing the IDC course there are 2 days available before the Instructor Examination (IE) starts. You might have discovered during the IDC that you have some knowledge gaps in physics, RDP etc. Or you would like to recap and/ or brush up some skills you learned during the IDC, e.g. theory, confined or open water presentations. The IDC College/ Pro Dive Academy “IDC Plus” is your chance to do that. Use your time and our knowledge and skills to prepare for the IE.

Furthermore PADI Europe is doing the Instructor Examinations at Happy Divers Marbella & IDC College Costa del Sol because it is the only PADI IE location in southern Spain.

All diver training is done to PADI's highest 5* level and NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC standards. Divers and instructor candidates can be sure that their training will be done at the highest standard in southern Spain. All our staff are well trained and multi-lingual. Instructional courses at all levels are done in English, German, Spanish and French.

Instructor Development Courses and Instructor Examination (IDC& IE) take place in April and November 2010 at Happy Divers Marbella & IDC College Costa del Sol premises.

For already qualified divers who want to grow into a PADI PRO there are 3 different Internship options:

Internship – GO PRO 1 “Training until instructor level in exchange for work”

The internship – Go Pro 1 option is a first-class internship program “Training until instructor level in exchange for work”. In other words, your collaboration will be exchanged for a first-class training until Padi OWSI (Open Water Scuba Instructor). This training has a market value of approx. 15.000 Euros.

Internship means that the trainee will have a “step by step training” learning all important skills in a dive center. In other words all experience - which is important to become a good instructor - will be made by “learning by doing” . This of course under the supervision and advise of an experienced professional.

All necessary diving courses until instructor level will be done during the internship. At the end of it the Instructor Development Course (IDC) and the Instructor Examination (IE) will be done at Happy Divers Marbella & IDC College Costa del Sol. IDC & IE take place in April and November 2010.

The training period will be usually an entire summer season, from March to November, or an entire winter season, from September until April. The minimum training period should be no less than 6 month, depending on the general background of the trainee.

Necessary qualifications to start with are a valid diving certification, a diving experience of about 20 - 30 logged dives, a drivers license and good language skills in English and if possible in other languages.

Application forms and further information for this internship you can get at any time from: college@idc-spain.com

This time span could also be shortened to approx. 6 weeks if you had more dive experience. If you fulfil the prerequisites than this program is for you !

We offer a first-class Divemaster training and on top of it an intensive IDC preparation - value approx. 900 Euros (without training materials like books etc.) for a symbolic price of 1 Euro !

If you fulfil the prerequisites then this program is for you !

We offer a first-class training and working surrounding and the possibility to do your IDC & IE as an Internship. This is also your chance to gain more training and work experience in a busy dive center. Internship means the exchange of services without any direct cash flow. You will work about 5 month with us and in exchange of it we will cover the expenses for your IDC & IE.

Application forms and further information for this internship program you can get at any time from: college@idc-spain.com

We are looking forward to hearing from you soon !!!
